SAFETY MATTERS TO ALL OF US

How can you help make your community more walkable and advocate for healthy changes?

You will...

- Identify what makes your community walkable
- Experience walking through your senses
- Advocate for changes in community design
- Understand how pedestrian signals are timed
- Build confidence to lead your own walk audit
- Link walking to health and economic outcomes
- Find how planning and design policies impact walking

PARTICIPANTS WILL:

Transition from student to teacher

Explore your own community through disabilities

Learn about available technical resources

Have fun in an interactive and hands-on environment

“Walking is the perfect way of moving if you want to see into the life of things. It is the one way of freedom.”

— Elizabeth von Arnim,

The Adventures of Elizabeth in Rügen
